BACKGROUND

The City's network core switch is nearing end of life and requires replacement. The core switch serves as the central communication hub for the City's network and is a crucial component of our network infrastructure, serving as the backbone of the network to ensure fast, reliable connectivity between our City facilities and devices. It connects multiple switches, routers, and other network devices, allowing them to communicate with each other and share resources. Overall, the network core switch plays a crucial role in ensuring that network traffic flows smoothly and efficiently, and that data is delivered quickly and reliably to its intended destination.

As switches age, they can begin to fail. If our core switch starts to fail, it can lead to a wide range of issues that can severely impact our network's performance and functionality. As such, its replacement is essential to maintain a reliable, secure, and high-performance network that can support the City's current and future needs.
